and does not appear in [windows update]. I reinstalled Adobe products, uninstalled and installed but still the same problem. I found the latest Adobe download here which is Version number 2.0.5.305 Can anyone help me to resolve this? A: Yes, there is a bug that you should definitely address. The problem was due to a misconfiguration of the Adobe account that you are using to access the security center. In order to activate the release notes, you need to install a version that is greater or equal than version 5.0.1. The exact version is 8.0.4. Mayor Mike McGinn's executive budget director, Craig Murk, announced last week that the city would not send an application for its share of $750,000 in federal stimulus funds, in part because of last fall's federal court decision in the federal lawsuit that blocked funding for the city's discriminatory housing law. But on Thursday, Murk said that didn't mean the city had totally abandoned efforts to get federal stimulus funds for the city. Murk said the city would pursue any available funds through the Housing Trust Fund in the amount of $150,000 to assist with workforce housing. The city also plans to look for funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development through the Community Development Block Grant Program, though Murk said it was unclear what amount the city might seek. The city also plans to make use of another tool -- funding that was already committed by the state of Washington to pursue anti-discrimination efforts with a greater focus on housing -- through a fund called the Cities for Fair Housing, he said. The entire package, Murk said, amounts to $175,000, and Murk said he's hopeful the city might receive more than that amount. Even with federal funds, however, it's unclear whether the city will be able to spend the $175,000 if the state legislature does not eventually renew the anti-discrimination law that funds the Housing Trust Fund. That law, which was passed in the 1970s, is up for renewal in the 2013 session of the legislature. "It is very difficult to say with 100 percent certainty that we can fund our anti-discrimination housing efforts," said Murk.
